TRIALOGUE. . . .

Henry Luce, builder of the TIME -LIFE-FORTUNE magazine dynasty, once told an interviewer that he tried to look at things from other viewpoints.

"How many sides are there to a question?" Luce said (in paraphrase). "Two or three or more?"

How many sides are there? More than two?

Dialogue between people suggests two points of view. Dialogue seldom solves anything immediately, but brings up points neither opposite had considered before and suggests a third position diffferent from the original two.

Anymore, there may be as many positions as there are debaters in an issue. Unfortunately, people often exchange views, but change nothing of their view. Such a debate or dialogue may be a polite argument. We are civilized.

If, however, a moderator brings out the strengths of two viewpoints, or 22 for that matter, an alternative position or a third position may develop, something more than compromise. The basic positions of two opposites may be altered, if not changed, both looking at a synthesis in the third position. And both ultimately may move, independently of course, to the new position, not totally relinquishing the original.

It takes only three points to make a plane. And if two opposites can find a third without cancelling themselves out, it means balance and stability, a trialogue.

Election Set For School Consolidation

The Milam County Commissioners' Court Monday set a date of August 19 for a vote on the consolidation of the Cameron and Maysfield school districts.

Petitions have been turned over to County Judge O. B. Harden, where signatures were checked. Petitions are from a group of 30 in the Cameron ISD, and 23 on the petition from Maysfield. Only 20 signatures are required on petitions to consolidate school districts.

Commissioners discussed voting and decided County Supt. Max McClaren would handle absentee voting for Maysfield and the Cameron superintendent will handle absentee voting in Cameron.

Voting in the August election will be held at the Cameron's homemaking department on the Yoe Campus. Voting in Maysfield will be at the school house.

Maysfield and Cameron school trustees met last summer to discuss consolidation, but no agreement was reached at that time.

Last year the Maysfield school had an enrollment of 37 students in 8 grades with two teachers and two aides. Plans are to cut back to 6 grades for the coming term.

About 20 Maysfield students were enrolled in the Cameron schools last year.

Olbrich Named To All-Star Team

Mark Olbrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olbrich of Burlington, will be playing at Houston in the All-Stars football game on August 3.

Mark will play as defensive linebacker and offensive guard.

Mark was a member of the Rosebud - Lott team that went all the way to the state finals.

Only three players in the Central Texas area have been named to the All-Star teams.

Jail Needs Extensive Changes

Milam County Commissioners will be faced with extensive changes in the county jail within the next few months or possible court action by the Texas Civil Liberties Union to force improvements.

Sheriff Carl Black received a letter Friday from Wayne Oakes, executive director of the TCLU, outlining jail standards set forth in a 15-year-old state law. The letter, which was sent to sheriffs across the state, asked Sheriff Black to "indicate in writing within the next few days how your jail facilities comply with state laws."

"Sweeping changes will have to be made in most counties," the letter said, "but while physical improvements will obviously take some time to accomplish, many of these requirements can be instituted immediately."

Sheriff Black said some of the requirements not met in the Milam County jail are:

1) Solitary cells of not less than 40 sq. ft., provided with a bunk, water closet and a combination drinking fountain and lavatory;

2) Padded cells with hammocks for insane persons;

3) Outdoor recreation facility and a rehabilitative program of exercise;

4) Mirror and dresser in each cell.

5) No cell of less than 40 sq. ft.

Sheriff Black said the present jail seldom held more than 10 prisoners at a time, however full capacity of 28 would not comply with state law requirements for space per prisoner.

Black said there had been some talk of eliminating several Central Texas county jails and building a central jail for six or eight counties at Waco. He said most local officials did not approve the plan because of the expense and time that would be required to transfer prisoners back and forth for meetings with their attorneys and court hearings.

A bond issue to replace the 80 year-old jail and remodel the courthouse was defeated in 1966. Since that time extensive interior remodeling has been completed at the courthouse with available funds while jail improvements have been limited to repairs and maintenance.

County Judge O. B. Harden said Commissioners have set aside $46,000 in a jail and courthouse improvement fund and another $16,000 will be added this year. He said all of this could be earmarked towards a new jail.

The Texas Civil Liberties Union warned that if standards were not implemented within an "ample time" period, the organization "is prepared to force compliance through the court if necessary."

Patrol Reports

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 18 accidents on rural highways in Milam County during the month of June, according to Sgt. G. E. Simmons, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These 18 accidents have resulted in 1 death and 9 injured for the 6th month of 1972.

Herald Writer Wins Trophy

Marilyn Hauk, editor of the 1972-73 Yoeman, recently attended the first annual Sam Houston State University Communications Workshop, held July 16-July 21. Miss Hauk attended the Yearbook Section. Several participants of this section put together a yearbook recording the events of the Workshop of which Marilyn served as copy editor.

Marilyn received a first place trophy for Best Staff Effort and two certificates of merit -- one for being an award winner and one for being on the annual staff.

ALCOA REPORTS EARNINGS DOWN

Alcoa, the world's largest aluminum producer with its biggest smelter located in Central Texas at Rockdale, reported net earnings for the second quarter of 1972 was $20,596,446 ($.92 a common share), down 12.1 percent from $23,434,478 ($1.06) a year earlier.

Sales and operating revenues for the second quarter of 1972 was $447,931,236, an increase of 8.6 percent over a year earlier.

For the first six months, Aluminum Company of America's net income was $40,386,163 ($1.80 a share), off 1.6 percent from $41,061,290 ($1.85) a year earlier. Sales and operating revenues were $865,404,957, or 11.6 percent above comparable six months of 1971.

Alcoa reported 1972 second quarrer shipments of 422,796 tons, 4.8 percent higher than in the second quarter of 1971.

John D. Harper, board chairman and former Rockdale Works manager, said Alcoa had been successful in achieving further benefits from its cost reduction programs. But he also pointed out that much of the gain was offset by increased costs for materials and services, and as a result of second-round wage increases effective June 1 under labor agreements signed last year.

"Considering the pressures of continuing cost increases and the effects of the world's surplus aluminum supply situation, we were gratified by the net income we realized even though it is short of what we consider an adequate return on the shareholder's investment," Harper added. "We will continue our programs to reduce costs and increase prices where market conditions permit, as we work to improve earnings."

Harper cited the fact that in an effort to bring primary aluminum supply into better balance with demand, Alcoa has continued to operate its smelters at a reduced rate of production -- about 84 percent of capacity.

The company's Rockdale plant has been operating at 78 percent of capacity since mid-May when a second production unit, or potline, was idled. Rockdale Works became the nation's largest aluminum smelter in 1970 upon completion of its eighth potline, boosting installed capacity to 275,000 tons annually.

New Director Named For Yoe High Band

The Cameron Yoeman Band will be starting rehearsals before school starts this summer, and will be under direction of a new band director.

He is Donald Czaplinski coming from Mart, where he served as band director for one year. Before that he was band director at Rungee for 6 years and at Nixon for one year.

Czaplinski is a native of Oakdale, La., and was raised in San Antonio. He attended St. Mary's University at San Antonio, where he majored in music education.

He is married and has three children, a girl, 10, and two boys, ages 6 and 8.

The new director says rehearsals will start August 7 at the band hall.

Engineering Due On Streets, Mall Area

Engineering on streets -- the mall walks and curbs in the city's urban renewal project will begin as soon as the Winfield Building (Irving's) has been removed, according to A. W. McCullin, UR executive director.

Other progress in the city's urban renewal program were noted by McCullin in a report to The Herald.

"All properties designated for purchase had been purchased before the close of business June 30," McCullin said, "and we had paid out $167,242. We had budgeted $267,000 for acquisition so we have a considerable saving in this."

Getting materials for Irving's new department store has meant delay in moving them into the new facility, McCullin added. Another bottleneck was demolition, which had practically stopped, but the urban renewal agency will begin with a new contractor on the job this week.

McCullin pointed out that the $69,017.73 paid out by the agency for moving and relocation of businesses is all "new money" in Cameron's economy.

He reminded businesses that it was past time for rehabilitation to begin. All rehab must be accomplished before work can start on streets and other final phases of the program. McCullin said the agency has access to contractors if businesses need help in getting rehab work done.

He reminded merchants about the regulations concerning signs for their buildings. A permit must be secured and a check made on size and proper procedure. It is also unlawful to display merchandise from the sidewalk area in front of stores, he added.

"This is public property, and is provided as a walkway for customers and citizens," he said.

The agency is using private financing in the project, and will sell bonds on August 8 for the second year of financing to begin on Sept. 8. The agency will sell $265,000 in bonds, using $265,000 plus $200,000 advanced by Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to pay off our obligations to date.

The agency's first year bonds sold at 3.67 and the agency hopes to do as well this year.

"Cameron is growing," McCullin said, "with $553,850 in new permits for the first six months of 1972 and $293,200 for May and the first part of June. An approximate $1,000 increase was seen in sales tax this quarter over the same quarter last year.

"Drive through our city, you may be amazed at what progress our city is making," he added.

ATTENTION PEP SQUAD

The Cameron Yoeman pep squad meeting has been set for August 4 at 3 p.m. at the tennis courts at Yoe High. All members are asked to attend.

TROPHY WINNER - Marilyn Hauk, Herald writer, shown with the trophy she received at the Sam Houston State University Communications workshop held this month. The trophy marked first place for best staff effort. She also received two certificates of merit.

Limiting The Frazzle....

Chessmaster Bobby Fischer was out in front at early week in his world playoff with Boris Spassky, the Russian chesswhiz.

Things have settled down a bit since Bobby decided he would play after all, a British lawyer ponying up $130,000 to bring off the championship contest at Reykjavik, Iceland.

Winner takes $150,000 home, the loser $100,000.

One chess expert predicts that Fischer will go on to win the title since he won a crucial sixth game from Spassky.

Except for a few hundred thousand chess buffs in this country, the American people are reading descriptions of plays which include "a Tarkakover variation" and various maneuvers with queens, kings, bishops and pawns, the figures chess uses on the checkered board.

Bobby has been criticized for being late, refusing to play in front of TV cameras and a number of other idiosyncracies which may be affecting Spassky's play. He had won only one game.

Challenger Fischer needs 12.5 points to champion Spassky's to win.

It is interesting press coverage is so great on what heretofore has been a brainy sport of limited support. It is better than the military braintrusts in Moscow and Washington and Peking playing games with hydrogen rockets and nuclear subs and new limited wars.

It may be another sign of a new era in international relations. It may be only the Icelandic chess promoters will have frazzled nerves after this American-Soviet confrontation.

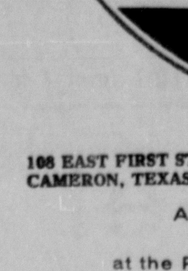
Light In Their Eyes.....

Cameron's Little League Indians saw a baseball game over the weekend at Houston's Astrodome.

And it's not so unusual for a baseball team to make such a game after a season.

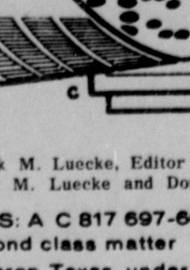
The surprise was when the big, computerized score board at Astrodome lighted up and welcomed all the Cameron LL Indians by name.

Some eyes lighted up too.



"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP



(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

CONGRESSMAN REBUFFS NADER'S 'EXPERT'

REP. JOEL T. BROYHILL (Va.) ". . . Most of our colleagues have already been visited, as I have, by agents of a self-styled expert on just about everything, with demands that we complete a questionnaire of over 600 questions then grant a personal interview to a volunteer questioner in order to help his organization research a paper critical of the Congress and its operations.

"I am today returning the questionnaire and advising the head of the organization that I consider assigning members of my staff the task of completing it would be unwarranted intrusion on their duties and responsibilities. As I believe many of our colleagues share my views, I insert the text of the letter I addressed today to Mr. Ralph Nader at this point in the Record. . ." (Excerpts of the letter follow):

Mr. Ralph Nader,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Nader: Reference is made to a very lengthy questionnaire containing over 600 questions which was left at my Capitol Hill Office by a member of your staff who also requested an interview.

I think it is also important to note that agents of your so-called Task Force to investigate the Congress have already visited my office on one occasion and interviewed by Administration Assistant for two hours on the subject. On another occasion your agents interviewed my Campaign Manager for four hours. These were valuable hours which should have been devoted to my constituents who rightly have first priority on my time.

I must also note that a cursory examination of your questionnaire leads me to believe that you might find all the information you seek in the Library of Congress or the Bureau of the Census.

Nonetheless, since you personally want this information, I will grant a reasonable period of time for an interview with you as your schedule of duties is no greater or more important than mine.

Sincerely, Joel T. Broyhill,
Member of Congress.

CRUMP'S COMMENT

Ralph Nader's CONGRESS PROJECT was covered in a previous column, "NADER TO 'GRILL' EVERY CONGRESSMAN.

We attended a lecture by a Nader "Expert" at Grand Valley State College, Allendale, Mich. We were not impressed. Most of the information he offered had been printed in the newspapers. It was apparent that many students and their dates, were more interested in each other than in gleaming some "inside" information.

Completion date for the CONGRESS PROJECT is October 1st. It will make very interesting reading.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Whenever business was good at a suburban night club, the management would "stretch" their space by putting extra tables and chairs on the edge of the dance floor. One night, a dancing couple stumbled over a stray chair.

The woman suffered painful injuries, and later sued the club for damages. She pointed out that the chair had been shoved several feet into the dancing area.

"If it was," countered the management, "some other customer must have done the shoving. We are not legally liable for what our customers do."

But the court granted the woman's claim. The court said that by placing chairs directly onto the dance floor, the management had set the stage for trouble.

When you go dancing in a public place, you are entitled to conditions of reasonable safety. The dance floor, the lighting, and the furnishings should all be maintained in such a way as to minimize the chance of accidents.

Nevertheless, merely by choosing this form of recreation, you are accepting those dangers that are "natural" to it. For example:

Another woman, injured while dancing, claimed she lost her footing because the floor was slick. But the court found no reason to blame the management for this. As one judge put it:

"Dance floors are intended to be slippery."

Furthermore, your own behavior might amount to negligence. That was the court's ruling in a case in which the claimant had ventured onto a ballroom floor in a state of advanced intoxication.

And in another case, the court declared it was negligence for a woman to try a particularly tricky step while wearing heels three-and-a-half inches high.

"The situation," said the judge, "parallels that of the risk taken by a participant in a sport."

Property Tax Reform May Be Big Issue At Session

By Bill Boykin

Property tax reform may be one of the big issues before the 1973 session of the Texas Legislature.

This is the prediction of Texas Research League in a newsletter analyzing the subject.

The property tax, notes TRL, is the largest source of revenue for support of the government in Texas. Collections exceeded $1.4 billion in 1970 and rose $220 million between 1968 and 1970.

Recent federal and state court decisions holding public school finance systems based on locally - imposed property taxes unconstitutional focused new attention on such taxation. The decisions stimulated interest of House and Senate committees on extensive reforms.

Criticism of the revenue source and proposals for reform may center on these factors as pointed up in the TRL study:

* Administration is inequitable. Different standards apply to different types of property.

* There are too few professionally - trained assessors, and many tax offices lack even the most fundamental tools such as tax maps and appraisal cards on each parcel of property. Furthermore, there are far too many tax offices and districts. (Given an "impossible tax law" to administer, local officials do remarkable well, according to a Tax Policy Committee study.)

* Personal property -- tangible and intangible -- is particularly difficult to assess. Some states have given up attempting to tax all property, and recognize this fact in basic laws.

* Taxpayers are at a marked disadvantage in redressing grievances over illegal or inequitable assessment in the courts.

"ABOLISH BOARD"

Former State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver says the best way to promote insurance regulation reform in Texas is by the drastic remedy of abolishing the Board.

Teaver was rejected for Board membership by the state Senate, and apparently has returned to Gov. Preston' Smith's staff.

He told an interview panel that insurance industry influence cannot be removed from regulation without getting rid of the Board which he charged is industry - dominated.

The former chairman suggested the present three - member Board should be made a nine-member, part-time citizen board or that an elected insurance commissioner be chosen to head the regulatory agency.

DEATH PENALTY

Texas and Georgia will ask the U. S. Supreme Court to review its decision declaring the death penalty, as it is most often applied, unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has received a request from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles for an official interpretation of the June 29 Supreme Court decision. The Board also wanted to know if the death penalty actually had been declared unconstitutional. Some justices hinted a constitutional death penalty provision may be possible.

The Board will continue to follow the procedure of not recommending commutation for the 45 inmates on death row until it receives a formal request from the prisoner, judge, district attor

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night space scientists are going to launch a satellite next year that'll circle the earth every 18 days and supply man through photographs with some of the following information:

(1) Where new highways should be built.

(2) When a farmer should plow his land.

(3) How much pollution is flowing into the country's rivers and lakes.

This is starling news. I had no idea the highways planners had run out of places to pave over and are being forced to call on a satellite to discover new spots.

As for farmers needing somebody to tell them when to plow, maybe a few bachelor farmers are in that shape, but not the rest.

And as for sending a satellite up to send photographs back down to tell us how much pollution is flowing into a river or lake, this seems like going to a lot of trouble to tell us what we already know. It's like taking a poll to find out who won an election 10 years ago.

You suppose science is running out of something to do? Why just last week I read that Russian scientists have now perfected an instrument that can measure the temperature of a burning match from more than 6,000 miles away.

I don't know who they sent 6,000 miles away to strike that match or how they could tell they were focusing on that particular one, it could have been a cigarette lighter in Cameron or the pilot light in somebody's water heater, but even if they got the right one, couldn't they have found out a lot easier just by striking one in their own laboratory and holding it under a thermometer?

It may be true, scientists are running out of something to do, although I'm not sure about this. Right now, science is still building new appliances a lot faster than repairmen can fix them.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

No Tickets On Farm Trailer Law

Rep. Dan Kubiak, writing in his weekly newsletter, told Central Texans that the moratorium on the writing of tickets for violation of the state's trailer brake law will continue, even after Gov. Preston Smith "never gave us a chance to revise it during the special session."

"We did, however, pass House Concurrent Resolution 26, which I authored," Kubiak said. "This in essence expressed the true intent of the legislature concerning the controversial trailer brake and light law. It passed without a single opposing vote in both the House and the Senate, and pointed out the harshness in the present law."

Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that a DPS study of having brakes on trailers from the accident prevention standpoint shows that lack of trailer brakes on light trailers is of very low priority, Kubiak said.

Speir also said the department won't write tickets just for some light, small trailer not having brakes.

Last Opium Crop Being Raised Now In Turkey

By Ozgen Acar

AFYON, Turkey

"I knew opium when I first knew myself, and for my grandfathers it was the same," said 81 - year - old farmer Omer Tastuna.

"Nobody but God knows when the first poppy grew here."

But everyone in this center of Turkey's opium - growing provinces -- the name Afyon means opium -- knows today that the crop now being gathered is the last.

After this week, the government will enforce a strict ban on opium - growing throughout the country in a move which will deal a significant blow at supplies for the world's illegal narcotics trade.

The Turkish government decided on the ban under pressure from the United States, where anti - drug campaigners have claimed some 70 per cent of illegal heroin and morphine entering the country originates from Turkey.

Only four provinces were permitted to grow opium this year, compared to 42 provinces 10 years ago. Most of this year's crop is expected to reach the legal market, and it is on this yield that compensation to the farmers for the ban on future crops will be calculated.

Turkey and the United States have reached agreement for the U. S. to provide $35.7 million worth of aid to compensate the farmers and for development projects to switch them to alternative crops.

The move in Turkey is expected to cut off the so-called French connection in which underworld refining laboratories in France are a link between opium sources in Turkey and the illegal narcotics market in the United States.

But the move has not been a popular one among up to 90,000 peasants who have earned a substantial income in the past from Turkey's highest-income crop.

Opium - growing in Turkey has been traced as far back as 2,200 years ago. Cicero, who lived from 106 -41 B.C., wrote in a letter from the old Roman town of Cynnada:

"There were fields of waist high, lilac-white flowers around, scattered with purple - black blossoms, bending in the wind," and he added: "they were the opium poppies."

Turkey has for centuries produced some of the world's richest- yield opium. The morphine content is 12 to 15 per cent compared to five to nine per cent for most other countries crops.

An acre of opium poppies can yield about 45 pounds weight of opium gum which fetches the equivalent of $275 on the legally - controlled market for the peasant -- three times as much if sold to smugglers.

The peasants also use the poppy to produce seed oil, the husks for synthetic materials, leaves for salad and stalks for animal feed.

The visible income from one acre can reach almost $1,250.

No other crop in Turkey has such a high income yield, and the poppy matures in June -- earlier than other crops -- which is an important factor for peasants living on bank loans after a bad year.

But the refined heroin which reaches the addict has been grown extensively in the hills of Anatolia by peasants who have only limited knowledge of its devastating effects.

Turkey is estimated to have less than 500 opium addicts itself. The peasants shy away from the drug because they believe it kills a man's sexual virility.

Lutfu Armutcu, 33, from nearby Balcikhisar village, said: "We have many experiences of the harms of opium. It leads to unhealthy children. We would not give our daughters in marriage to any men who were opium takers. He would probably have blind or deaf children."

The farmers argue that their opium crop should not be banned under pressure from the United States, nor should they suffer because of the narcotics problem in American cities.

Farmer Halil Karagoz commented: "We are not satellites of the United States. Why do they not look after their own silly children and not ask us to do it for them."

Agriculture Has Action Role In Curbing Pollution

Agriculture has a "doer role" in reducing air pollution.

This is the opinion of Dr. L. S. (Bill) Pope, associate dean for administrative affairs in Texas A&M University's College of Agriculture.

People in agriculture are often the recipient of pollution problems -- and sometimes the source of other types of pollution, Pope said.

"For example, 1,700 trucks a day hit the highways in the High Plains to serve the feedlot industry of Texas. The feedlots, in turn, provide top sirloin steaks for today's consumers. Yet exhaust fumes from the truck fleet add to air pollution problems already present in the area," Pope explained.

Science responds to public concern, Pope, who addressed a recent workshop on air pollution effects on vegetation, said. He emphasized that while the feedlot industry responds to consumer requests for more beef, the problem of waste disposal increases.

"Citizens face tough choices ahead in the interest of pollution abatement. We may need to reevaluate some of our investment priorities as we consider solutions to pollution," Pope told the 70 workshop participants.

"Research is the key to unlocking the riddle and finding efficient solutions to this rapidly mushrooming problem," Pope asserted.

A Cornell University plant pathologist told workshop members that plants can serve as indicators of air pollution.

Dr. Arden Sherf of Ithaca, New York, emphasized that "plants are especially useful as pollution indicators as society becomes more conscious of environmental problems and wonkers about local pollution situations."

"Our biggest problem presently is to accurately localize important air pollution problems and attempt to trace the possible sources. Citizens want to know if their plants are being damaged by pollutants rather than by disease or insects, fertility imbalance or weather," Sherf said.

Furthermore, unless one has had considerable knowledge of plants and how they grow, the diagnosis of air pollution injury may be unreliable and even hazardous, the New Yorker added.

A Texas A&M University research engineer who is using two environmental wind tunnels to determine effective measures to reduce serious air pollution at the U. S. Customs Station in Laredo described the research project to workshop participants.

Said Dr. M. P. Boyce, mechanical engineering professor and director of the gas turbine laboratory at Texas A&M: "The wind tunnels are effective in the study of smog, and in testing and evaluating traffic exhaust pollution at the Laredo Station."

Other federal and state studies have emphasized the threat to Laredo Station employee's health with the finding of high carbon monoxide concentrations and other monitored pollutants such as hydrocarbons, ozone, sulfur dioxide, hydrogen sulphide and particulates, Boyce added.

New developments in automotive engines are being made to curb pollution, yet these developments will substantially increase the costs of the product, he emphasized.

"We are seeking to find different systems that can be put with existing power plants and also investigating new sources of power," Boyce concluded.

The airpollution workshop was conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Environmental Protection Agency. Dr. Wendell Horne, Estension plant pathologist, was general chairman.

Time To Plan Small Grains

By Bill McCutchen

It is time to be getting land in shape for small grains for winter pastures.

Milam County is in good shape now with ample native grass, improved pastures, and a good hay crop, but many cattle suffer from a disease called "hollow belly" during the winter months.

A good way to prevent this problem is to get land in shape for early plantings of small grains. The expense involved in land preparation, seed, and fertilizer may look a little high at this time of year, especially on the heels of the disastrous freeze last winter but year in and year out small grains play a big part in this area for winter pastures. Some 26,000 acres of oats are planted annually in the county and these and other small grains can't be beat for wintering livestock.

Oat varieties recommended for this area include Coronado, Cortez, New Nortex, Suregrain, and some would also include Ora which has been good, but was hit hard by "rust" in parts of the county last year.

If oats are your choice, plant as early in September as possible for maximum growth prior to cold weather. You can't wait to see what the armworms will do and still get maximum winter forage.

Elbon, Gator and Bonel are excellent winter forage ryes and will perform well in this area. South of this area they tend to head in midwinter causing the forage season to end too early. Gator is more resistant to leaf rust than Elbon, but seed supplies are short.

Triticale will be the choice of some cattlemen this year. Triticale is a small grain developed from crossing wheat and rye however, it is not a hybrid such as hybrid corn or grain sorghum. Triticale, like wheat, will reproduce the same kind of plants year after year; whereas, hybrid corn or grain sorghum will not.

When Triticale first came on the marekt most varieties were not winter hardy as they were developed from crosses of rye and durum, which is a spring wheat. Recently, varieties with more winter hardiness have become available. Grain yields of these varieties are not appreciably different than those of the old varieties. In most tests by the Texas Agricultural Experment Station, the Triticales have not produced as much grain as other small grain varieties.

Forage production of the spring types have generally been poor because of poor recovery following grazing. Forage production of the winter types appears more promising than the spring types formerly available. However, the winter hardy types have not exceeded the better wheat and rye varieties in forage yields.

4-H HORSE SHOW

The 1972 Texas 4-H Horse Show from July 19 to the 22nd in San Antonio is now history.

Through eliminations held all over the state of Texas, 4-H members representing the 12,000 4-H members who had a horse project this year, gathered at the Joe Freeman Coliseum to decide state winners. This State Show was a result of combined efforts of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, the Joe and Harry Freeman Foundation, the Farm and Ranch committee of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Approximately 200 contestants participated in this annual contest. During this four day show, 4-H'ers entered in many different events. On Wednesday, was the cutting, judged roping horse and break away roping preliminaries and on Thursday was the English pleasure, hunter hack, working hunter, jumping and drill team competition and finals.

On Friday and Saturday, the events were the halter classes and showmanship, pole bending, barrel racing and the western pleasure division.

Representing Milam County in the state contest was Martha Lynn McDermott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lyle McDermott of Cameron, In the reining class there were 90 contestants all trying for top honors.

In this event Martha Lynn, riding her mare, qualified for the reining finals on Saturday night. In the finals Martha Lynn placed fifth for this event. First place honor was won by last year's reining champion.

Cattle Marketings Up... Cotton Production Report Due Aug. 12... Farm Safety Week July 25-31... Milk Production Declines...

Texas feedlot operators report intentions to market 1,208,000 cattle between now and Sept. 30. This would be 19 per cent more than marketed during the same period last year.

Cattle being fed for slaughter in the state totaled 2,119,000 as of July 1. This is 25 per cent above the 1,700,000 head on feed a year earlier.

In the state there are 283 feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more. Of these, 205 reported cattle on feed July 1, while the other 78 reported their feedlots as empty. Capacity for all 283 large feedlots totaled 2,621,950 head and showed a 79 per cent occupancy.

Nationwide, the trend for higher production is also noted. Cattle feeders in a 23-state area plan to market about 7,184,000 head between now and Sept. 30. The anticipated marketings are nine per cent higher than those sold during the same period last year.

A REPORT on cotton production for 1972 is expected to be released Aug. 12. Cotton industry people as well as cotton producers and textile manufacturers will be watching that report with more than usual interest because of the present cotton supply situation. Acreage-wise in Texas the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reports upland cotton planted in Texas this year is estimated at 5,450,000 acres. This is an increase of 220,000 acres over the amount planted in 1971.

Generally, most of the crop is reported to be making excellent progress with some having been destroyed by hail and heavy rains. Insects are also a problem in many areas.

FARM SAFETY week is July 25-31. In 1971, farm and ranch accidents took the lives of 203 persons. Leading cause of deaths were fires, explosions or burns. Other factors for accidental deaths included drownings, accidental shootings, machinery accidents, tractor accidents, falls and animals.

The figures show a continuing upward trend in accidental deaths. Agriculture is one of the most dangerous of all professions.

Safety officials urge constant alertness and eliminating potential accidental death possibilities as ways to lessen the accidental death rate throughout the state.

MILK production in Texas during June dipped slightly below that of a year ago. Milk production in the state totaled 270,000,000 pounds. This is down two per cent below June, 1971, and is eight per cent below the previous month's production.

Milk production per cow kept for milk averaged 760 pounds per cow for the month of June. This is 15 pounds below a year earlier and 65 pounds below the previous month.

Preliminary price for all wholesale milk for June was estimated at $6.70 per hundredweight.

Nationwide, milk production during June totaled two per cent higher than a year ago. Milk cows on farms totaled 12,219,000, down one per cent from June of last year.

Aqua Festival Set For Early August

Central Texans have more than hot days to look forward to in August. The 11th Annual Austin Aqua Festival is just around the corner and should be better than ever, according to Aqua Festival officials.

This year's Festival is August 4-13 and includes such events as the World Gas and Fuel Drag Boat Championships, a spectacular water parade, swimming championships, a fishing derby for small fry, and scores of other events.

Aqua Festival starts on August 4 with a Twilight Land Parade on Austin's main street, Congress Avenue. Youngsters lead the parade up Congress toward the state capitol with a Pet Parade beginning at 7 p.m. The main parade begins at 7:30 and will include more than 100 floats, bands and marching units.

TP&L's planning now for the grandkids of the 1980's

The babies (and grandbabies) of the 1980's in TP&L-territory will have all the electric power they'll need because, right now, we're planning and building to meet the needs of the 1980's . . . and beyond.

Just this past year, TP&L spent over $100 million on new generating units, additions and improvements to transmission and distribution lines and other facilities necessary to produce and supply electricity. Recently, two new generating units have been placed in service. Still other units which are now under construction or in advanced stages of planning are scheduled to be put into operation in 1973, 1975, 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Due to rising prices in materials and labor, the cost of this necessary construction will be greater than ever before experienced by the Company. However, keeping pace with the ever-increasing need for electric power is a major part of TP&L's obligations to its customers and TP&L will meet this obligation in the future, as it has in the past.

Food Poisoning Summer Hazard

Summer blazes with outings, picnics, barbecues--and food poisoning.

"Foods can look appetizing, smell good and even taste delicious yet still cause illness," Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"Poor or improper handling of food in the home is the major cause of food poisoning outbreaks," Mrs. Clyatt noted. "Most types of food poisoning aren't fatal and normally result from two bacterial organisms: staphylococcus and salmonella."

According to the Texas A&M University employee, thorough hand washing before handling any food is one of the best and simplest precautions against contamination. Individuals who are once infected with the salmonella bacteria may become carriers of the infection for any months, even though they look and feel healthy.

"You can easily pick up the bacteria while handling raw vegetables, meats and poultry and then introduce it into snadwiches, salads, custards and other prepared foods," the specialist said.

She pointed out that salmonella feed on protein foods and to a lesser degree on starch. The temperature for optimum growth is around 95 degrees, but the bacteria can grow at room temperature and can even survive temperatures as high as 140 degrees for short periods of time.

"Freezing doesn't kill salmonella but simply transforms it into a dormant state. So don't thaw frozen meats and poultry at room temperature. Instead, thaw them in the refrigerator, under cool running water (in freezer wrappings), or by cooking them frozen."

Mrs. Clyatt said that cooking temperatures of 165 degrees destroy salmonella organisms, so any food cooked to this temperature is free of the bacteria, unless recontaminated by the food handler.

To prevent outbreaks of salmonella, she advised washing hands thoroughly before handling any food.

"Keep drainboards and utensils clean. Even small spots of food left on drainboards may harbor salmonella that will start to multiply at room temperature."

Afternoon Tea Honors Bride-Elect Tuesday

A tea at the home of Mrs. Emory B. Camp Tuesday afternoon honored Miss Melanie Jane McClaren, bride elect of John Brooke Reed of Temple. Co-hostess for the courtesy was Mrs. Gene Blake.

About 150 guests called between 4 and 7 p.m. and were received by the hostesses, the honoree and her sister, Miss Madeline McClaren, Mrs. Harrell O. Reed, mother of the prospective groom, and Mrs. Mrs. Max McClaren, mother of the bride-elect.

Large arrangements of white mums were placed at vantage points throughout the house and white corsages were presented to those in the receiving line.

A small round table at the entrance to the family room held the guest registry and was decorated with pale lavender flowers in a crystal bud vase.

Frosted cake squares, punch and coffee were served in the dining room. Centering the serving table was a silver candelabra with white tapers and pastel silk flowers. An orchid streamer was engraved with the names of the bridal couple.

Serving in the houseparty were Misses Mary Blake, Marion Thomas, Gail Jeter, Beth Brock and Cynthia Krieg and Mmes, Jack Glass, C. W. Hudson and Nona Hubert Lindsay.

Miss McClaren and Mr. Reed plan an August wedding at the First Baptist Church in Cameron.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hensarling of Bryan, a girl, Carolyn Brock, 8 pounds 12 ounces, born July 14 at St. Josephs Hospital, Bryan. Mrs. Hensarling is the former Ann Brock of Cameron. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brock of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hensarling of Bryan. The Hensarlings have two other children, James 17 and Jeb 15.

MISS TEENAGER CONTESTANT - Georgann Wilkerson will compete in the Miss Texas Teen-ager Pageant in San Antonio Friday and Saturday. A senior at Yoe High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkerson of Cameron and is sponsored in the pageant by H. H. Stedman of Hefley-Stedman Motor Company. Winners from each state will compete in the National Miss Teen-ager pageant in Atlanta, Georgia August 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Broadus and daughter Sandra vacationed in Monterrey, Mexico, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Fuchs of Euless, have returned from vacationing in Europe where they visited England, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fuchs of Buckholts and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bartek, Jr. of Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hubert, who have been in Cameron for the summer, will return to Guadalajara, Mexico next week where Mr. Hubert will enter his second year of medical school. He has been an externist at St. Edward Hospital this summer under a program sponsored by the loca Medical Association.

VACATION Bible School youngsters, 175 strong, enjoyed a picnic at City Park Tuesday before closing exercises for the 8-day school Wednesday at First Baptist Church. Some found table space at the picnic, but Michele Woodfin, Susan Moore, Carol Ermis, Mary Jean Angell and Karen Seaton were among a group feasting on hot dogs on the steps of the historic park pavalion.

New Fashion Approach For Stout Styles

Rudi Gernreich, Bob Mackie, Boyd Clopton and a number of other prominent fashion designers agree that all the old taboos concerning fashions for the obese woman are now invalid.

Quoted in the current issue of Coronet magazine, Gernreich says, "The general rule used to be dark clothes, but I believe lighter clothes should be worn because they make you feel better."

Mackie, in attacking the prejudice against prints for big women, says, "There are many prints available today, particularly in geometric patterns, that appear basically vertical. These can be very flattering to a heavy figure."

Clopton agrees with Gernreich that if an overweight woman wants to dress for fun, the way others are doing, then she should, no matter how wayout a fashion might be. However, he cautions, "Overweight women must pay attention to fabrics. Stiff fabrics look bulky. Soft, printed fabrics make even the heaviest woman look feminine and attractive."

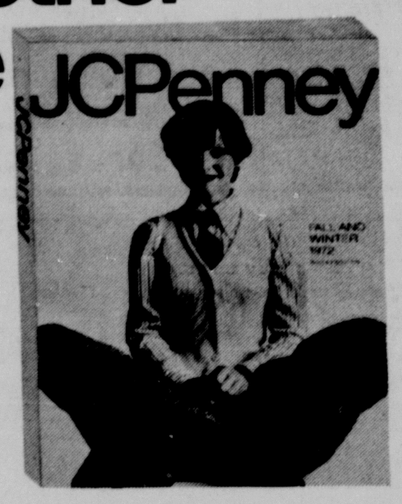
Shelves of 2x8-inch western wood across corner window brightening home office keep books close, display treasures.

Our new catalog, and what the other catalogs hope you never find out about us.



Long before consumerism was invented, we've had a thing about highest quality at lowest prices.

It's the only way we've operated since James Cash Penney opened his first Golden Rule Store back in 1902.

But giving you a bigger dollar's worth isn't the only reason there are now almost seventeen hundred JCPenney stores. Or why we've suddenly become America's fastest growing catalog.

What really sets us apart is people. Experts with years of experience who make the decisions on each of the hundred thousand things we offer. Even the slightest doubt about any item is enough to get it shipped to our Test Center. There the standards are so tough some of the big name national brands would have trouble getting an O.K.

Everything you'd expect in a great catalog is in our catalog. Furniture, drapery, bedding, fashions—including hard-to-find extra sizes. But you'll also discover a lot of things you didn't expect. A home gymnasium. A complete wine making kit. An outdoor waterfall. A fisherman's depth finder. An electric organ. Pages of creative crafts. And much more.

And, of course, you can use your JCPenney Charge on any order. If you don't have one, take a few moments to fill out an application when you pick up your free catalog.

Once your order is received, we really go to work. We check and double check to make sure you get exactly what you want, and that it gets to you the way you want it.

Fashions, for instance, are never packed in advance. We keep them on hangers until the very last minute. Then we rush them right out to you.

What's more, all of our items are fully described. We try to anticipate everything you could possibly want to know. About the product. The price. The guarantee.

Having our new Fall/Winter Catalog is like having a great store at your fingertips. And all you have to do to order is pick up your telephone.

So, now that you've found out what the other catalogs hoped you wouldn't, why not go a step further. Order something from our catalog. Preferably, something you'd normally order from another catalog. That way, you'll find out fast whether we're as good as we say.

Our new Fall/Winter edition is just off the presses. Your free copy is waiting for you now at our Catalog Center.

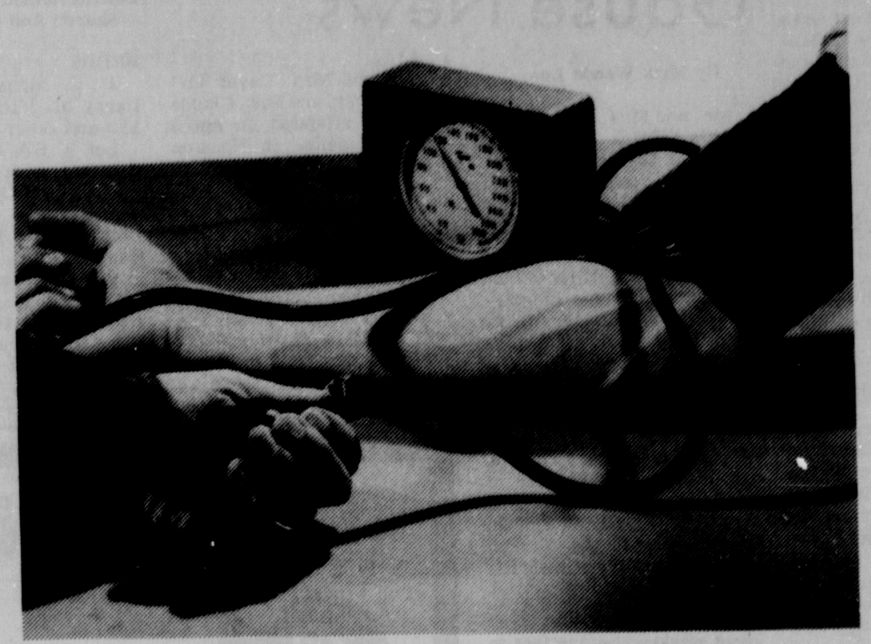
UPTIGHT



The doctor tells you your blood pressure is up. Slow down, he says. Relax.

Let's face it. If you're "uptight" there ARE things to do about it. Follow your doctor's orders, yes. Take a deep breath, and look at the beauty of the world around you. Help other people with their problems.

But add one extra little prescription. Go to church. Just sit there and let God's peace engulf your anxiety.

Chances are that when you walk out the door something new will have been added to your dimension in living.

Santa Fe Reports Earnings

DALLAS

Lone Star Gas Company today announced new record earnings of $2.37 per share for the 12 months ended June 30, 1972, up from $2.13 for the like period a year earlier. President W. C. McCord reported the total earnings of $35,134,000 represent a 12 per cent increase over the same period a year ago. Consolidated revenues for the latest 12 months were $271,000,000, compared to $261,494,000 for the year - earlier period.

McCord emphasized that Lone Star's continued earnings improvement resulted from increasing non-utility operations of its wholly owned subsidiary companires. These include oil and gas production of Lone Star Producing Company; oil and gas well servicing operations in 10 states by Pool Company, continued increased sales of fertilizer and polyethylene gas pipe and fittings manufacturered by Nipak, Inc.; and new revenues generated by a large Lone Star Energy Company plant that provides heating and cooling services to the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

Current rate action being pursued by Lone Star is designed to restore the normally allowed earnings contributions of its utility divisions to consolidated results of the Company

Committee Considering Paperback School Books

Paperback books for Texas schools could save taxpayers some five to six million dollars annually according to Rep. Dan Kubiak, a member of the House committee on Administration of Public Education in Texas which is holding public meeting in each area of the state.

Kubiak said the committee had found a need for the revision of textbook usage and will probably recommend use of paperback books in many subject areas of the school system.

The first meeting of the House committee was July 11 in Beaumont. The second meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, August 15, in the Sheraton Crest Motel in Nacogdoches, according to Rep. Charles H. Jungmichel, committee chairman.

In the Beaumont meeting, the committee composed of Reps. Jungmichel of LaGrange, Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches and Dan Kubiak of Rockdale found federal programs being implemented which some school districts have not been able to secure and other fekeral programs started which the federal government dropped after two or three years imposing a financial hardship on the taxpayers in the State of Texas.

The committee also found a need for the revision of textbook usage and will probably recommend the use of paperbacks in many subject areas of the school system.

The committee will make recommendations on curriculum and program coordination and the implementation of area vocational schools for all areas of the state in conjunction with technical schools and junior colleges.

REV. CUBIE WARD

Rev. Ward To Speak At Assembly Of God

The Rev. Cubie Ward, a newly approved Assemblies of God missionary to Uruguay, will be guest speaker Sunday, July 30 at 11 a.m., at the First Assembly of God, 1511 No. Houston, the Rev. Donald Exley, pastor, has announced.

During their first term of missionary service Ward and his wife Linda will be active in Bible school work, literature distribution, evangelism, establishing churches, as well as doing organizational work among the established Assemblies of God churches.

Uruguay, the smallest country in South America, is situated on the east coast in the southern half of the continent. Almost all of Uruguay's population of 2.9 million is of European descent. Two thirds of the people are Roman Catholic. Church and state are officially separated, and religious freedom is recognized.

Ward attended Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas, and the University of Texas at Arlington where he had a major in psychology.

Ward pastored in Hearne, prior to his approval for foreign service. He also served as minister of education and youth in churches in Dallas and Austin.

The public is invited to attend the forthcoming service.

Revenue Sharing Bill Is 'Mortal Blow' Says Poage

Cong. W. R. Poage, commenting on the revenue sharing bill passed by Congress, said this will inevitably lead to the federal government controlling state and local governments.

Poage said that he, along with 20 other Texans, voted "no" on the bill.

He said the bill "struck a mortal blow from which it (the government) may never recover."

"State and local governments will react to an opportunity to spend someone else's money just like individuals," Poage said. "It seems hard to think of a system better calculated to increase irresponsible spending."

"If our states and local governing agencies are going to live on handouts from the Federal government, they are, of course, going to take their orders from the Federal government and our states will be nothing more than administrative divisions like the departments of France," he continued. "I think this is indeed a sad day for the federal system which has served us so well in the past."

Poage said the bill also discriminates, with New York getting $35.58 per capita while Texas would receive $22.16, although the per capita income in New York is $3650 as against $2810 in Texas.

"This means that Texas is discriminated against both on a per capita and on a need basis," Poage said, "for Texas is going to have to pay its full share of the Federal taxes necessary to make these payments."

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Parents with youngsters beginning school for the first time this September look forward to school with a little more exictement, and many mothers whose first-born are going off to school may be a bit bewildered by it all.

In addition to the million-and-one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school --new shoes, clothes, health examination -- most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

This fall there will be a quarter - million new first graders in the schools throughout Texas.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas State Department of Health has been prepared for it. Requests already are pouring in.

If you write the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth St., Austin, Texas, be sure to: include the child's name, place of birth, date of birth, and the parents' name (including the mother's maiden name.) The State Health Department fee for a certified copy of the birth certificate is $2.00.

Boy Scouts Set Swim Meet

About 75 Boy Scouts will compete in the annual Tejas District Swim Meet from 8 until 10 p.m. Monday at the Rockdale Municipal Pool, according to J. H. Greene, district activities chairman.

About 12 scouting units from Cameron, Rockdale, Thorndale, Buckholts, Calvert, Franklin, Rosebud, Westphalia, Milano, Gause and Bremond will field entries in the 12-event meet.

Greene said the district-wide activity features competition for every Boy Scout. Competition is broken down to include non-swimmers, beginning swimmers and seasoned swimmers.

"It should be an evening of good, hard competition for the boys and wholesome entertainment for families and friends," the chairman said. "Every boy who enters will receive a Participation Ribbon."

Returning to defend its 1971 unit championship is Troop 789 of Rockdale (sponsored by the First Christian Church), Scoutmaster Adrian Bailey's troop scored a victory over another Rockdale unit, Troop 790 (sponsored by St. John's United Methodist Church). Greene said a number of last year's individual high point winners will be in the swim Monday night.

The eight races will be the side stroke, beginners' free-style, back stroke, breast stroke, medley relay, beginners' underwater swim, and free - style distance swim.

The only diving event will be from the low -- or one-meter -- board, with each participant performing a front dive, a back dive and one other dive of his choice.

The three special events are breath-holding contests for non-swimmers and beginners and a foot race in shallow water for non-swimmers.

Greene said a youngster is classified as a swimmer if he can swim 50 yards or more, a beginner if he can swim between 25 and 50 yards and a non-swimmer if he is unable to swim 25 yards.

Chief judge for the meet will be H. D. Maxwell of Rockdale. He will be accompanied by Bill Cooke of Rockdale, who will judge the diving event, and two other judges to be announced later. Ron Derry, district Scout executive, will assist Greene with the meet.

The City of Rockdale has donated use of the pool, according to Greene. He urges families and friends of participants to bring lawn chairs and witness the 1972 event.

E. BELLARD: TACTI-TURN AGGIE GENIUS

Those close to Emory Bellard know he does not talk much.

If selective with words, those he has loosed have Texas Aggie football followers aflutter. They put their new genius in a special class reserved for that Great Gridiron Love they won, lost and have never forgotten, Paul William (Bear) Bryant. And, Emory aint even kicked off, yet.

In fact, one carried - away Aggie was heard to say, after Bellard's team finished spring training with that orgy of ground - gobbling by Coverboy Brad Dusek, Mark Green, and John Bounds, "Who needs the Bear?"

Emory, running over with Aggie Charisma, has told 'em he invented the Wishbone -T which took Texas to the 1969 and 1970 National Championships and that he will use the same tool to produce a UT-Type winner at Aggieland.

But, what really turns on the Maroon Crowd is an absolute faith in Bellard's well-publicized crop of gray matter. Exhuberant Aggies are convinced, and have said so, that Emory was the brains behind the success of his previous employer. "He's the kind," says one insider, "who can win without material."

Donnie Wigginton, Ag assistant and former UT Gamebreaking QB, fanned the Brazos Bottom Fever most of all. When he stepped out of a Longhorn uniform, a Cotton Bowl loser to Penn State, he told inquiring writers:

"I hate to say anthing. But, sure we missed Coach Bellard. He (Emory had left UT three weeks earlier to accept the Aggie job) used to sit up there in that press box and chart what the opponent was doing. By halftime, he had it figured out. Then, we'd go out and tear that defense apart in the second half. He is the smartest football man I've ever been around." Obviously, that includes Darrell K. Royal, Donnie's old college coach, three times "Coach -of-the-Year" in all of America.

As Wigginton, the Super Sub who led UT to a dramatic SWC title, walked out of that Cotton Bowl dressing room, he became one of E. Bellard's enthusiastic Texas Aggie assistant coaches. And, one of Emory's more devout College Station salesmen. Spring Branch's Redheaded Donnie, it is openly accepted, had much to do with Bellard's Aggies attracting perhaps the states' most heralded group of jet-packed schoolboy running caks. Including Bubba Bean, the Kirbyville Komet who shattered all those Steve Worster ball -carrying records.

Since Wigginton is only one of many shrewd Bellard moves to pay off so astoundingly quick, you can understand why the Aggies are dancing in thre streets.

BAYTOWN RIDES AGAIN:

Remember when Dan Stallworth's Baytown teams produced all those college stars? Well, those folks are at it again. Frank Broyles says John Moseley, his Arkansas Free Safety, is an almost can't miss All - American. And, he sez he would not trade his Backup Flanker Reggie Craig for any other in the country. Both are former Baytown Robert E. Lee stars, as is Dennis Pokluda, the 205-pound Soph Battering Ram who will be Rice's starting fullback.

Then, Junior Gary Whitman is TCU's Number Uno hitter at line-backer while Ronnie Webb is a Soph Frog Fullback so good that 1971 Starter Bill Sadler cannot afford a stumble. Whitman and Webb are Baytown Sterling's first Super College studs. . .UT was only keeping things in the family when signing Galveston Ball's Manuel Mehos, one of the state's most - sought linebackers. Mehos' sister, a UT beauty, is married to David Arledge, the former Longhorn defensive end. . . Don't tell Hayden Fry Beaumonth's not a fertile recruiting ground. SMU folks believe Beaumont Herbert's Alvin Maxson, the SWC's 1971 leading runner, and Louis Kelcher, the Soph Giant of a dfensive tackle out of Beaumont French, just might be the SWC's 1972 MVPs.

Brazosport, our old home ground, is usually a wuiet, law-abiding spot. But, then along came those Hijackers dropping out of the sky at Lake Jackson with all that drama. Then, some fellow took a club to Danny Rhodes, the local boy who's certain to become an All-America linebacker as a junior at Arkansas. It was, of course, a case of mistaken identity but Danny suffered a battered nose. A little thing he's dished out to some of the SWC's more renowed ball-carriers. . .Alvin's Nolan Ryan, the flame - throwing right - hander, has Anaheim Angel management taling to themselves. "He keeps this up," wrote one California critic after Ryan one-hit the Red Sox while striking out 16 batters, "and the New York Mets will own the honor of having traded away the 'second Sandy Koufax.'"

Cam-Roc Day Play Splits Trophies

Cameron women golfers captured the womens tournament trophy and Rockdale took the men's trophy at annual Cam-Roc Day tournaments Saturday at the Rockdale Country Club.

Joe Young of Rockdale ended with a 68 on the par 70 course to win the Individual Player trophy. Marie Fieling of Rockdale scored a par 35 for the first round of the women's tournament to set a Rockdale Country Club course record for women.

Cameron also took first place honors in the bridge tournament Saturday afternoon.

Ranger Shortstop Has 2 Goals

ARLINGTON

Texas Rangers' shortstop Toby Harrah has two goals as the 1972 American League race heads into the All-Star Game break.

"I want to play in 154 games and I want to hit .250, "said the 23-year-old Marion, Ohio, American Legion product.

Harrah, who admits he has trouble moving to his right because of surgery some time back to correct a knee deformity. Harrah was born with two kneecaps in his right knee, but he feels in time the knee will be as solid as his left and his lone weakness in his defense will be remedied.

"I'm not one of those guys who carries his mistakes around with his thoughts; I know I'll make some errors out there because I go for the balls that give me little chance to field.

"I'd rather get an error when I knock down one of those shots and throw hurriedly for an error, than see the ball go through for a clean hit."

Harrah has one of the best arms in the American League, especially when he throws from full overhand. Some of his plays have been nothing short of miraculous as he cuts down the runner by a hair.

Harrah hit .230 last year for the club in 127 games with 22 runs batted in. He already has moved well beyond that RBI mark with 27, and is courting his batting goal with .269, through the Detroit game, July 12.

NOTICE OF CONSOLIDATION ELECTIONS

THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF MILAM.
TO THE RESIDENT QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE MAYSFIELD COMMON SCHOOL DISTRICT AND THE CAMERON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT:

TAKE NOTICE that elections will be held within the Maysfield Common School District and the Cameron Independent School District to determine if said School Districts shall be consolidated as set forth in the attached order which is made a part of this notice for all purposes.

Wayne B. Wieser
County Clerk,
Milam County, Texas.

AN ORDER OF THE COMMISSIONERS' COURT OF MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS, CALLING AN ELECTION TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE MAYSFIELD COMMON SCHOOL DISTRICT SHALL BE CONSOLIDATED WITH THE CAMERON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

BE IT ORDERED BY THE COMMISSIONERS' COURT OF MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS:

SECTION 1: That elections shall be held on the 19th day of August, 1972, within the Maysfield Common School District and within the Cameron Independent School District to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified voters of each of said districts desire the said districts to be consolidated for school purposes, the resulting consolidated district to be known as the Cameron Independent School District.
